Consensus Recommendations on the Treatment of Opioid Use

Disorder in the Emergency Department

The treatment of opioid use disorder with buprenorphine and methadone reduces morbidity and mortality in patients with opioid use disorder. The initiation of buprenorphine in the emergency department (ED) has been associated with increased rates of outpatient treatment linkage and decreased drug use when compared to patients randomized to receive standard ED referral. As such, the ED has been increasingly recognized as a venue for the identification and initiation of treatment for opioid use disorder, but no formal American College of Emergency Physicians (ACEP) recommendations on the topic have previously been published. LAC Is Back In Person!

July 25th - July 27th 2021

Have a Voice on Capitol Hill

Come together for ACEP's Leadership & Advocacy Conference (LAC) to celebrate emergency medicine's accomplishments and continue to work for a better political environment for your specialty and your patients. First-timers to the conference will be trained to educate your Members of Congress while seasoned participants will build upon your already-valuable Congressional connections.

We'll tackle problems facing our specialty, develop tools to advocate at all levels, and build relationships with your Members of Congress. All while having a good time!

Approved for AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™

NOTE: A large component of LAC is meeting with your Members of Congress. ACEP's plan to schedule in-person visits with legislators on Capitol Hill during LAC has recently shifted due in large part to ongoing security concerns stemming from the January attacks on the Capitol. The Capitol is now restricting in-person constituent meetings. The visits with legislators scheduled for the afternoon of July 27 will now take place virtually from the Hyatt. There will be no cancellation penalties for any registrants if they need to cancel. If you registered for in-person and need to participate virtually please contact Member Care at 844.381.0911 or email us at meetingregistrar@acep.org
